A Message from Ron:
Starting the Year Strong

As we head into a new year and the coldest stretch of Michigan winter, it's a good time to make sure your vehicle is ready for the months ahead. Freezing temperatures, potholes, and road salt can all take a toll, so a little attention now can prevent bigger issues later. I always recommend checking your battery, fluids, steering and suspension components, and staying on top of regular oil changes as we move through winter and into spring.

A quick inspection can give you peace of mind and help your car stay reliable no matter what Michigan throws at it. We're here to keep you safe on the road in 2026 and appreciate your continued trust in our team.

Tinkerbell's Corner

Tinkerbell is keeping warm this winter in her pink and purple puffer vest, cozy in her favorite spot on the office side of the building. She may not be out front much, but she's always happy to say hello if customers want to greet her—just be prepared for a little bark while she does her "Top Flight Security" duties. She takes protecting Ron's Garage very seriously, even if she looks adorable doing it.

Seasonal Service Spotlight

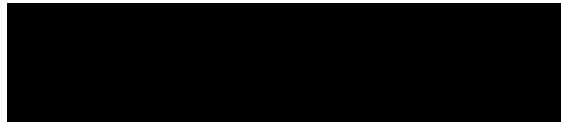

Michigan's late winter and early spring can be tough on your vehicle, but a few key services can help keep things running smoothly:

Steering & Suspension Checks: Potholes are at their worst this time of year, and checking these components helps improve handling and prevent uneven tire wear.

Oil Change & Courtesy Inspection: Fresh oil and a full inspection reduce winter strain and help catch small issues early.

Battery & Charging System Test: Cold temperatures continue to weaken batteries, and a quick test can help prevent an unexpected no-start.

A little preventative care now can make a big difference as we head toward spring. Schedule your seasonal service today.

We also offer loyalty programs to thank you for choosing us. New customers receive a welcome bag during their first visit, and returning customers can enjoy their own appreciation bags throughout the year.

These, along with our referral rewards and ongoing savings opportunities, are just a few ways we show our gratitude for your continued trust.
